Improve Membership:	Obviously, you have to place dues in a range where you are fiscally solvent. The current dues are a lot, considering other magazines I get. I understand that you are a lobby for amateur radio. From a personal interest point, I have a problem with QST. I am an Extra Class, but so much of it is technical above my interests and abilities. I wish there were more articles on simple things and using ham radio with other hobbies. I don't contest; have an OCF dipole, and use Par EF or a Buddistick for portable. Casual use articles would be much more interesting to me. I used to get CQ VHF before they ceased publication. I really enjoyed the focused articles. While necessary to meet the varied interests of members, I just get tired of all the numbers from contests, awards, and related stuff, as well as all the repetition in the advertising. As a final note, I love the diversity of your store. Granted, a lot of books kind of borrow from each other. For example, Digital Modes and JT-65 are very similar. But $10 for shipping? I can buy it on Amazon for $3-4 cheaper and get free shipping.
Reason for not Renewing:	Mostly, I put it off and forgot to. Then, when you offered me a free book, it is always the same books--ones that I've had for years. As I get CQ, I figured I would wait and see what else you offered me. Then, of course, I got really busy at work and forgot all about it. I do appreciate all the fine work that ARRL does for ham radio.

Improve Membership:	Include articles on rule enforcement. The ham bands are getting full of rule violations and the FCC is doing nothing. It is causing me to lose interest in the hobby when I hear LIDS with high power and no manners. Making entry level license even more simple will only bring more No code-No manners operators.
Reason for not Renewing:	It seems it is all about contesting and reviewing new digital radios, neither of which I care for. Every day there is contesting. It is hard to find a rag chewing contact that doesn't want to brag about how his audio sounds or his new $12,000 Flex radio.

Improve Membership:	Nothing its not what they do its just I have been a ham close to 40 years also a broadcast engineer TV and Radio its just about loosing interest in the hobby since it became my Profession.. I rarely operate anymore, for many years I worked CW but since the deregulation of the Amateur licenses were cw is no longer required It truly turned me off, It sort of separated the men from the boys sort to speak.. It made Ham Radio special.. Another problem I think this incentive Licenses is ridiculous.. When I was young boy growing up there where only two licenses Novice and General which gave you all band operating privileges... My first licenses was general I past the 13 word requirement both sent and receive and the same day took the advanced licenses at the fcc office in Philadelphia I past both test.. and received my advanced license in the mail this was in early 70s..I have held that license all these years and have a working cw speed of 25 wpm or more for many years. the point, I personally think the extra class licenses is a waist of time, have to laugh when listen at the cw portion of the 20meter band where the extra class is suppose to give you the first 25hz to operate in and you hear guys with code speed of 10 wpm.. I say one license covers all band frequency to operate just like it use to be in the 50s
Reason for not Renewing:	Just lost interest or should say I have other interest. ham radio is something I do once in a awhile when I get into the mood....

Improve Membership:	Quit requiring us to know the 10 digit ARRL ID. I do not, nor intend to memorize that number and yet it is required for EVERYTHING ARRL.That is the number one reason I did not renew. When it came time to renew I had to request that number. Well, I ended up forgetting to do so, next time you sent out a renewal....you asked for it again and I did not have it. Why not use standard identification criteria like every other website email and password and a couple of security questions. Standard stuff.
Reason for not Renewing:	I deploy to bad parts of the world and seldom get my magazines and I have very limited bandwidth to be able to download issues. If you had not given me the 10 digit number within the contact email, I would not have tried to find it to let you know WHY I did not renew.

Improve Membership:	you sent all my QSTs to the wrong address in Minnesota. Someone illegally changed my address. The US Post Office sent you a notification of address change so that is where you sent them. Here is the sad truth...the US Post Office is essentially broken and anyone can change an address by simply filling out a form and dropping it in the nearest Post Office Box. Doing this is a very effective means of harassment...consider it to be mild form of identity theft.

My issue with this is you are allowing some other person to use my assigned call sign. I would think that the ARRL being the NRA for amateur radio would be more concerned with allowing the use of a members call sign by another individual.

Reason for not Renewing:	At the time I did not renew because I had no idea why the Southeastern Division Members of the ARRL were not given an opportunity to vote and no election would be held for a new director. I also had an issue with the ARRL declaring one individual elected without any explanation. In addition, I would like to know what issues, directions or lobbying the ARRL was performing on behalf of its members to justify several six-figure salaries within the organization. Having said that I would welcome the opportunity to review the organization's direction and would if certain changes are made with explanations given consider renewing at a later time.

Improve Membership:	While ARRL has many good programs that I value (VEC, books and training manuals), recent events make clear that current ARRL management represents the needs of ARRL management not the needs and values of ARRL membership. ARRL does not represent my views as a ham. I do not support an organization that wants to control me rather than be of service to me.
Reason for not Renewing:	The most focused reason is ARRL's actions toward NTS leadership after the Cascadia Rising exercise. ARRL may own the name "NTS" but ARRL does not own the people and equipment and certainly does not respect the mission and efforts of this team of volunteers. I heard Dr. Jim Boehner speak about ARRL's actions after this incident and ARRL's plan for NTS at the 2016 Shelby Hamfest. I was not pleased at all and decided that day to no longer support the current ARRL's management paychecks. ARRL forgoing elections and rather installing a SE Division Director solidified my views. Hopefully a significant turnover in ARRL management will happen soon before the organization implodes and the good things they do are lost.

Reason for not Renewing:	Dear Diane Petrilli,Thank you for the follow-up. I enjoy the magazine. I was having trouble establishing my username and log-in password/registering. Tried my callsign as username. Maybe I didn' t register first. I got confused. Any help would be appreciated. Plan on registering later this month.

Reason for not Renewing:	I would like to see articles that are tailored to new, or newer Hams. I'm NOT into DX because no one wants to rag chew. Also so many are into operating with amplifiers and are talking farther than they can hear. When I first tested there was a rule that one isn't supposed to use more power than needed to make the transmission. I'm bad with electronics, so any of the rare how to projects are beyond my abilities. All I ever see in QST anymore is DX articles, and Contest junk. I'm just a plain and simple Operator and miss the basics that Amateur Radio was built on. I read, and re-read my old QST's on DVD because there good material. I used to collect QST's and 73 Magazines at Hamfest, but I've replaced those with DVD's. I do renew my subscription from time to time hoping the format has changed, but alas no luck. You had a GREAT series of articles called "The New Ham Companion". That was real good stuff. That's about as much as I can tell you. I'm sorry I don't feel compelled to throw my money away for something that I don't enjoy.

Improve Membership:	What does the ARRL offer me that I can't find online? The info in the QST and on the ARRL site are easily found outside of ARRL. I can't think of one time in the last year that I have used the ARRL site other than LOTW, and the user experience in the LOTW site is horrible and cumbersome. If you want me (a millennial) to be active in ARRL, I need to see my generation and our interests represented in the ARRL. I need the website to look and operate in a modern fashion. I need to feel like I'm not on a site that was built 10 years ago.
Reason for not Renewing:	There isn't much I get out of it. QST is nice and all, but doesn't provide much that I can't find online. Field day is fun but my experience with that is directly through my local club. I just have a hard time justifying the cost even at $35 a year.

Reason for not Renewing:	The increase in the membership cost.

Improve Membership:	Give seniors like me a discount. I'll be 70 this year and licensed since July 7, 1962. You can give us the choice of getting the QST magazine with membership price or reduce the cost by not including the magazine. I do most of my reading online anymore. Trying to reduce what I have to keep around the house. I recycle all the magazines (and other paper) I get but have also dropped subscriptions to all but one magazine now and that one will not be renewed either.
Reason for not Renewing:	I live on a fixed income that will be decreasing when the Teamsters pension fund goes broke (it's been in the news for the last couple years now). The cost of membership has gone to the point now where I don't want to spend nearly $50 a year to be a member. As I remember the last time I renewed, the fee was $35 a year. I told myself that when it goes up again I will not renew. I know ARRL does great things for the hobby, its just that I can't do it anymore. What's the cost going to be in 5 or 10 years? $100 a year or more? I know that everything keeps going up. I think you will be losing more members both from age (dying) and refusing to pay that much for the membership. It's not that I don't appreciate what ARRL has done for ham radio, it's just I have other things I need to pay for such as my health insurance and prescriptions, which keep going up and my part of the costs goes up as well. I had to make the hard choices of cutting out what I couldn't afford to be spending money on and my ARRL membership was one of them. I haven't been active for the last year, I've kind of lost interest in the hobby after nearly 55 years of having my license. I might pick it up again, but not right now. Thanks for letting me give my feedback. I wasn't sure how to let you know why I wasn't renewing anymore.

Improve Membership:	While maybe not a membership question I would like to suggest that instead of trophies or plaques ARRL offer membership to various radio contest winners. (at national level such as overall rover in a VHF contest or Single High Power in an HF contest, etc. Many winners are probably already members, but I know I would have like a half year membership award as opposed to another wall plaque. Personally, I would have liked it better. Just a suggestion
Reason for not Renewing:	Price was probably a determining factor. Is there such a thing as an digital membership? Would have limited download capabilities, but still is involved in the overall operation.

Improve Membership:	Perhaps you could initiate a substantially lower cost membership with the option of a digital-only QST subscription. Or maybe an option of no magazine at a much lower rate, say $10 or $15?
Reason for not Renewing:	Rate increase. I have recently retired and I am on a very limited fixed income. As much as I have enjoyed my membership in the ARRL and QST magazine, I find I can no longer afford to keep up my membership.

Improve Membership:	Lower cost. Maybe if you went paperless, including the magazine, and passed the savings along to the members. We live in a digital age, take advantage of it. I know you have done and do a lot but anything more than $20.00 a year is to much for me.
Reason for not Renewing:	Price. To expensive.

Improve Membership:	Offer a membership in ARRL for $30 or less, excluding QST monthly. I never have time to read QST and it just piles up. I am not getting value for my money with a membership that includes a mandatory QST subscription.
Reason for not Renewing:	too expensive. I don't need QST---give a reduced subscription price without QST.

Reason for not Renewing:	When you rolled out Digital QST, there was an option to get a digital only membership for a discounted price. As I haven't been reading QST the last few months, I went looking for this option when it was time for me to renew. I found that this was no longer available, though I did have the option to forgo the print QST for the regular membership price. I decided not to renew because of this.

Reason for not Renewing:	Dues price increase - $39 to $49 - an almost 30% increase in one year.I understand costs have gone up, but the 'Blind' membership rate with no QST continues to be $10?It seems like a large portion of the price increases have to do with continuing support for benefits I just don't use. We all benefit from legislative efforts, so I'd like to continue to support ARRL. But I don't really use any of the other benefit services or even get around to reading QST. I would have renewed and would still be interested if there was an option of the old $39 rate with digital-only QST, or a lower non-QST rate, but $49 when I really don't use any of the member benefits or read QST is just over the top.

Improve Membership:	I've been a Ham for about 42 years and have always thought highly of the ARRL. I have no complaints. I have always enjoyed QST and trust it to be THE Amateur Radio publication. Unfortunately, as time goes on, between the Internet and cell phones I find need/use for Amateur Radio. For the past few years my only use of has been to participate in Field Day once a year; and the past two years I have been unable to do that due to other commitments.
Reason for not Renewing:	Cost. As the membership cost has increased, and my use/need has decreased (see above), it has become harder to justify continuing my membership. If the cost was less I would happily continue my membership even though I am not as active as I used to be.

Reason for not Renewing:	OK. Diane Yes my membership has lapsed. I do enjoy QST and I'm sorry I had to drop it. I have been a ham since 1978 and I am active BUT I live on social security and barely scrape by each month. When the price went up it went completely out of my budget. I think this is a major problem for a lot of older hams especially. Maybe ARRL should give the price increase a second thought. Until it comes back down, I will have to just do with out. Sorry to say that, I do enjoy QST and like to support my hobby but its out of my control.

Improve Membership:	While I realize that advertising is the fuel for publication in any form and across all products and subjects, I found it disconcerting that there was more space dedicated to adds than to valuable articles. Improve Membership:	QST content is boring, full of ads, most of the content I can receive with a simple Google search and it's going to be more relevant. The increase in dues, combined with the March 2017 cover picture of the unsafe female tower climber, in a hobby that claims lives to tower falls every year, was the last straw.
Reason for not Renewing:	Dues increase, QST content boring and full of ads, QST cover picture of unsafe female minor climber with rope held on with zip ties. I've retired from the OO program and that was the primary reason I stayed an ARRL member.

Improve Membership:	Amateur radio has become a rich man's hobby. The articles in QST are mostly slanted towards those with disposable income rather than us retirees who purchase used equipment and struggle to make do with what we have. I do not have 3 to 5 thousand dollars to purchase a new rig or the thousands of dollars to erect a wonderful tower or the time and money to go on a whiz bang DXpedition. All that stuff is wonderful to those who can afford it including the $49 for a years renewal fee. I cannot afford to upgrade (with new equipment) into the digital age so plod along with a vertical antenna and a 1980s vintage HF rig. None of the articles in QST are pertinent to that genre of Hams. I live in a Valley and DX to the east is sparse so when the band improves I might consider my WAS again but now it ain't possible with what I got. Articles about repairing equipment, restoring antennas. putting up a multiband wire on a small lot are mostly missing from QST.

Improve Membership:	Improve the magazine, QST... It used to have some great stories and articles about simple things; antennas, home brewing etc. I was a member back in 76 and so on and some of you up there should look at some of the old issues. Now days on some of the articles you need to be a math major to get anything out of them or have a bank book the size of Fort Knox to afford them. By the time I skip over all the over written or over priced articles there is not much left to read but ads. One more little thing, Don't be sneaky with your politics, it really does you no good especially with some of us older hams that still have it in for you for pushing the FCC to drop the code requirement. I know, you have heard this before! I could go on but in my and others opinion you don't listen to the little guy out there anymore. Just the big DXer with BIG bucks. Check out my station on QRZ, I have less than a $500 home brew setup not one of those $6k Rigs etc.
Reason for not Renewing:	Primarily... Money! My xyl, who was also a ham passed away in late 2014 and if it had not been for the little bit of insurance money left over I still would not have my DXCC CW which, in honor of her, I applied for and the REQUIRED membership to get it. Have you really ever stopped to check out how much from scratch it costs to get a DXCC? The ARRL is the highest priced game in town and since your the only game in town... well you get the picture. I'd sign back up if you had a nice discounted price for an old guy that's been a ham for 41 years.

Reason for not Renewing:	The price of membership is just not worth it to me. QST is so full of ads that it is almost void of anything of interest to me.
